

Citrix Ready "Community Verified" Website launched

Sunday, 02 November 2008

Citrix have launched a 'Community Verified' website allowing customers, partners and prospects to find, add and verify third party products that are compatible with Citrix products.

Citrix Ready "Community Verified" website, has gone live. The site, located at <http://community.citrix.com/citrixready> is a public online community that Citrix hopes will enable their customers, partners, and prospects to find, add, and verify third party products that are compatible with Citrix products. The community site is a repository where you can also share your own knowledge about third party products running in your environment.
