

Gilwood CS provide analysis and news for DABCC

Tuesday, 24 February 2009

Gilwood CS's director Andrew Wood has been announced as DABCC's Presentation Virtualization Analyst. Bernd Harzog announced new members of a team providing additional content for DABCC as part of the sites commitment to significant enhancements that build upon their success to date.

Andy Wood is one of six new analysts and will be providing Presentation Virtualization Analysis.

DABCC, Inc was formed in 2004 to help others in overcoming the technical hurdles in planning, supporting and deploying Server Based Computing solutions through:

- * Providing the premier internet reference site for management, network administrators and technical personnel,
- * Designing, developing and implementing software products that solve the ongoing problems faced by management, network administrators and technical personnel. Authoring and publishing white papers on implementation, problem solving, and emerging hardware and software technology .
- * Providing the training and seminars necessary to meet both management and technical educational needs.

Andy is a director of Gilwood-CS and is noted for implementing highly scalable and secure CPS/XenApp systems for enterprises in the U.K